² Elective courses in semester A can be carried out in English (depending on the composition of the group) in order to ensure that the students understand the course content. Students who enrol into two semesters, but their language proficiency does not permit them to enrol into semester B, in the second semester cannot take elective courses that they had already taken and passed. Furthermore, one of the three newly-taken courses has to be from the list of courses offered in semester B since they are carried out completely in Croatia.
